

“Some say look it up ...

We say Fast Track E-Learning”

Fast Track E-Learning will help end-users learn more effectively by combining different types of training materials into a common interface that presents employees with the right information at the right time and in the right place. Our customized learning solutions focus on tightly integrating procedures, reference guides and electronic courseware into easy points of access such as the application of on-line help systems within Oracle, SAP or PeopleSoft.

We work with you to decide what approach is best for you.

Benefits of Fast Track E-learning

- Quantifiable return on your investment
- Key users not tied up for long periods
- Security in the knowledge that you are using a tried and tested approach
- Less help-desk support calls
- Inexpensive development tools with no runtime costs
- Fixed price or fixed time pricing options
- Reduced development costs
- Users that will be able and willing to use the new systems

Oakwood’s Fast Track E-learning gives you ...

- Comprehensive E-learning methodology
- Knowledge and Understanding of current development standards – SCORM
- Impartial advice on the best development tools to use on any given project
- Content that fits into organizational hierarchies used by Learning Management Systems
- Training that can be easily broken down by job role
- Ways to ensure the successful adoption and use of our E-learning solutions
- A full life cycle service from conception to delivery from one supplier
- Flexible and low cost solutions based on reusable content which is easy to develop and update
- Rapid development process

Oakwood is a trans-Atlantic training specialist focusing on the design and development of multi-formatted self-paced E-learning. We provide customized end-user training for ERP applications that will make your employees more qualified, more efficient and more successful at running your business.

Case Study

Major UK Company - Uses Oakwood for HRMS and Payroll CBT

A major multi million dollar retail client in the UK engaged Oakwood Consulting Sarl. in Switzerland to build a simulation and training software that would train HR users who were not based near Head Office. The company was implementing the full suite of Oracle HR products across the whole group of companies. The modules included Oracle Training Administration, HR, Absence Management, Career Management and Payroll. At short notice Oakwood Consulting, a trans Atlantic Oracle Applications training consultancy, studied the best approach to use for the customers needs and then rapidly deployed a team of experts who could build self-paced training Viewlets using ViewletBuilder from Qarbon. The team was selected because of their experience in building HRMS e-learning training applications. Qarbon's ViewletBuilder was chosen because it could be used to rapidly develop sophisticated simulations and tutorials of key transactions quickly and effectively with little cost or investment in training. The client was able to quickly learn how to create Viewlets and immediately accepted Oakwood's recommendation of ViewletBuilder for developing world class training solutions. The end result was a short delivery time and a training product that could be continually updated at little cost in time or resources. What's more the users loved being trained with Viewlets.

Beckman Coulter US and Europe – CRM

Using our Fast Track Training approach Beckman Coulter purchased over 15 Oracle Tutor based modules from our courseware library to enable them to reach an aggressive deadline for end user their training delivery. A key factor in Oakwood's selection was our strength and knowledge on Oracle Tutor and our ability to come in provide quick wins with the product. We were able providing the necessary Oracle Tutor Authoring and formatting knowledge to publish a wide range of training materials from HR, OTA, Financials to CRM Sales and Service. To complement the I.L.T. Oakwood developed for Beckman on a fixed price a unique simulation training software using Demo Shield from Install Shield to enable hundreds of sales people to remotely learn how to use the new Oracle Sales On Line software without been connected to a database or attend classroom training. The software tightly integrated user training guides into the software so the students found they were almost in a real classroom with demonstrations, practice and work books to enforce the learning all off a hard disk! The result was minimal down time for the sales force and rapid adoption of the CRM sales software. Oakwood continued to provided trainers across the US and Europe to deliver the Sales on Line training to the Beckman sales force in one of the largest implementations of the product to date.